CONVOCATION.

Professor Henry Van Dyke Speaks Upon Value of Lofty Purpose.

The first Convocation of the year was held in Huntington Hall, yesterday. As customarily, the hall was filled a half hour in advance, and by two o'clock the room was taxed to its utmost capacity. In a brief speech, President Pritchett introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. Van Dyke, Professor of English at Princeton University.

Dr. Van Dyke opened his address by reading that portion of the Biblical story of Daniel, which tells of Daniel's self-denial and consequent advancement. It was not the mere self-denial that was notable; the main point was the high purpose of Daniel and his compassons. Men who have a purpose are those who win the victories of life. Thus the men who formed our country were victors; thus the men who saved the Union were victorious; thus is the President of our country a victor and leader, "a grand type of manhood." "The man who waits for something to turn up is pretty sure to be turned down."

The hypocrisy of vice is a form of cowardice, commented Dr. Van Dyke. Young men often like to pretend to have entered into vice, but such pretence is far weaker than a straight simplicity, a manly absence of all affectation. This boldness does not necessitate stubborn opposition to custom. It is wise to be content with whatever is good. Applying the principle practically to his hearers' lives, the speaker said: "Don't come here and try to change established customs, especially in your first year. Live with others in a friendly way, but when it comes to a matter of principle, be as firm as a rock."

Dr. Van Dyke closed with strong exhortations. "Have a high purpose, let men understand it, make everything in your life tend towards its fulfilment. If anything interferes, 'cut it out.' 'Go into training for manhood.'"

Dr. Van Dyke is well-known as a speaker and an author. He was a minister in New York City until 1900 (pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church), when he took up his present work at Princeton. He has been writing continuously for years, and is best known probably, as President Pritchett indicated in introducing him, for his earlier works, collections of essays entitled "Little Rivers" and "Fisherman's Luck."

A prominent characteristic of Dr. Van Dyke's books and speaking is a strong optimism, and it was noticeable throughout his address before the Convocation yesterday.

1909.—There will be a meeting of the 1909 Tug-of-War team in Huntington Hall today at 1 P.M. A full attendance is desired as final action will be taken on caps.

VENEREAL DISEASES.

Dr. White's Third and Last Lecture on "Personal Hygiene."

An audience of about two hundred students heard the third of Dr. White's talks on "Personal Hygiene" in Huntington Hall, Wednesday afternoon. The subject of the talk was "Venereal Diseases." Leaving out the moral sides of the question, Dr. White emphasized strongly the danger of very serious physical results of promiscuous self-indulgence. By striking statistics he illustrated the prevalence of venereal disease. More particularly he spoke of the transmission by infection of gonorrhea and syphilis and explained the dreadful effects frequently resulting from these diseases. After speaking briefly of the duration and treatment of such diseases, Dr. White concluded his three talks on "Personal Hygiene" by thanking the students for their attention and he expressed the hope that his suggestions might prove helpful to them.

MISSOURI CLUB DINNER.

The Missouri Club held its first dinner of the year at the Tech Union, Wednesday evening. Three new men besides nine of the old members attended. The number of Missouri men at Technology this year totals over twenty-five.

L. G. Blodgett, '06, the retiring president of the club, acted as toastmaster and after the dinner called a business meeting for the election of officers. J. B. Harlow, '07, the former secretary and treasurer, was elected president, while F. C. Jaccard, '07, was elected vice president, and M. B. Hall, '08, was made secretary and treasurer. A. W. Hertz, '06, and W. F. Dolke, '08, were appointed a committee to have shingles printed.

The club decided to hold its second annual western dinner at the Union some time before the Christmas holidays. In defining a Western man, it was voted that any man whose home is, or has been, west of the government division-line between eastern and central time, should be considered as being a Westerner, and as such, should be cordially invited to attend the western dinner.

CHESS CLUB MATCH.

The Technology Chess Club and the Dorchester Chess Club played a tie series at the Boston Chess Club last Tuesday evening. The score was:

BASKET BALL TEAM.

Organization Has Finally Begun. First Practice Yesterday.

Over thirty men attended the basket ball meeting held on Nov. 22 in 22 Rogers. Manager Lyons explained the necessity of getting to work at once, as the first game comes with Boston University on Dec. 8. Owing to the delay in finishing the gymnasium the team has had no place to practice. Blake, captain of last year's team, urged all the men to come out and work hard. There are only three of last year's men back and everybody has a chance of making the team. There will be a second team with a regular schedule and Asst. Manager Belcher has already made arrangements for six games. The first practice was yesterday afternoon at 4.30 P.M.

MINING ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

Some thirty men of the Mining Engineering Society attended the meeting which was held in 2 Rogers last Wednesday at 4.30 P.M. "Summer Work" was the subject of discussion and much information was brought out. H. C. Plummer, '06, spoke on his work in the Lake Superior Copper District and J. A. Root, '06, told about the Bisbee Arizona Copper Mines. Trauerman, '07, also told of his experience in a West Virginia Iron Mine.

WALKER CLUB MEETING.

The Walker Club held a meeting in 44 Rogers yesterday afternoon at 4.30. Six men; C. Brewer, '07, M. H. Pease, '07, E. F. Whitney, '07, J. Evans, '07, E. W. James, '07, and H. R. Putnam, '08, were elected to membership. It was decided to hold the first dinner of the year on Friday, December 8, at the Technology Club, provided that the dining room could be obtained and the Secretary was instructed to make the necessary arrangements. Mr. Blackstein will be the guest of the evening and he will speak on foreign life as compared with life in this country.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE.

The Institute Committee held its first meeting of the term in 34 Rogers, Thursday at 1 P.M. The following officers were elected: President, M. A. Coe, '06; vice president, J. H. Leavell, '07; secretary and treasurer, H. A. Rapelye, '08.

WILLIAM A. NICHOLS, PRINTER, 208 SUMMER ST., REAR

The outcome of the Intercollegiate Cross Country run, to be held at Travers Island today, is anxiously awaited by all interested. Success to the Team. This is the first opportunity of seeing how our long distance men compare with those of the "Big Six," and everything indicates a good showing. The preliminary run with Harvard, on November 11, showed that we have two fast men; but that the team as a whole is not well balanced. Even though we were beaten, first and second places went to Tech men. Since then the team is reported to have improved rapidly, so that now the men are in prime condition.

In the run at Travers Island, the team will have to compete against men of several years experience, which is a great handicap. If they win, the victory will be the more creditable. We hope their first run in the Intercollegiate Cross Country Association will be successful.

The presence of Dr. Henry Van Dyke at the Convocation yesterday, emphasizes the fact that through the efforts of our President, Dr. Pritchett, there does exist for Tech men as great an opportunity to see and hear men of prominence from the outer world, as that enjoyed by any body of undergraduates in the country. Perhaps we disregard this opportunity, and refuse to see that it exists from our being in an educational center, surrounded by far different conditions from any we shall hereafter meet. The opportunities to hear men from the business world at the Society of Arts, the Lowell Institute lecture courses, and at the numerous engineering societies in Tech, should be deemed a most unusual privilege by every undergraduate. It should be remembered that there is little that is humanizing or broadening in a purely technological course of study, such as we approximate here. It remains for us to acquire outside of studies as much interest as we can in a wider world and a higher life. Every man should be grateful for such an opportunity as that offered yesterday.

COMMUNICATION.

The Editors do not hold themselves responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TECH:

That we live in an age of progress and discovery, was very clearly demonstrated by an article in the last issue of your paper. Up till now the exact facts of the death of Caesar have always been more or less shrouded in mystery and thinking men have felt, that such an act of treachery as the murder of his best friend was entirely incompatible with the loyal and manly character of Brutus.

The recent discovery, however, clears up the mystery. Mary Antony angered no doubt by the power exercised by Ceasar over her husband, allowed herself to be so carried away by her passions as to commit, in a moment of mad jealousy, the deed which has made the name of Brutus forever synonymous with treachery and faithlessness.

All honour is due to THE TECH for thus fearlessly daring the storm of disbelief and derision, which is ever the portion of pioneers in the field of discovery.

Of all the plays made from books during the past quarter century, "The Prisoner of Zenda" is undoubtedly the most popular. It is now some ten years since E. H. Sothern first appeared as the manly Englishman and his princely double, and the play during that period has been almost constantly before the public. At the Castle Square next week it will be handsomely staged with attractive scenery and costumes, and its lengthy list of dramatic personae will necessitate the engagement of many extra players in addition to the regular stock company. The dual role of Rudolf Rassendyl and the prince will be played by John Craig, and as the Princess Flavia, Lillian Kemble may be expected to give one of her most charming impersonations.

Tremont Theatre.

"The County Chairman," George Ade's clever pictorial comedy, which has but one week to run at the Tremont Theatre, has come into its own as a genuine American play. Its seasons have been marked by crowded houses, which welcomed with hearty laughter the many clever and witty sayings, droll situations and humorous episodes which George Ade has cleverly framed together under the above title. No play has been so widely discussed for many a season, and its entertaining features need no bell-ringer to advertise it. It is a matter of regret to a vast number of playgoers in Boston and vicinity that the present engagement is so brief.

TECH ORCHESTRA.

The men who are to compose the Technology Orchestra have been finally chosen from among the candidates. There are fifteen members in all; Almy, 08, Temple, 08, Burgher, 09, Birch, 08, Belcher, 09, Kenison, 08, Thode, 08, Shaw, 09, Hall, C. A., 08, Grusburg, 09, Hammer, 08, Doucette, 07, Clark, C. W., 08, Willis, 06, leader, and Gaegory, 08, manager. The rehearsals will be held on Mondays and Tuesdays at 4.15 in the Union.

INTERCOLLEGIATE CROSS COUNTRY.

The Technology Cross Country team will be greatly handicapped in the Friday run. Although the first four contestants finishing for each college will score, Tech has only four men entered. The other colleges have teams of seven. The course is cross-country, with jumps and fences, and while the other teams run it annually it is new to the Tech runners. The length of the Traver's Island course is six miles and our men have had no practice at such a distance.

Cornell's team, twice the winner, will run without three of their best men. Pennsylvania has lost two men, Yale three, and the chances of Columbia and Princeton are not considered hopeful. While the Tech team is in good condition they lack enthusiasm, but not determination. Circumstances seem to indicate a good place for the team.
